A NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTION

Never the Nutmeg State-Governor Baldwin.

Connectiont It shall be this: Resolved: Never to countenance, and never to let pass without protest, an allusion to Connecticut as the Wooden Nutmeg State.

There was never any known foundation for the slander which implies. We have a choir of two good names for our state, both no infrequently used: The Land of Steady Habits, and the Constitution State. Both ring true. Connecticut was the first commonwealth in the world, organized under a written constitution. She does pride her self on her steady habits. She is indignant that anyone should ever have charged her sons with cheating the public by selling manifactured nutnegs. She protests eachest any countenance to such a charge being given by her people, under any circumstances, by calling he the Nutness State.
